2.12 Figure 11 shows the return of ETH/USD against The Currency (in USD) daily for the past month (as the ETH/USD rate goes up, one could expect The Currency USD prices to go up as well). The points indicate the return for each day. The blue line is fit to these points to show any existing trends, and the grey area indicates the confidence interval. There was no clear correlation in February.

COMPARISON OF THE CURRENCY WITH OTHER NFT PROJECTS

2.13 HENI compares the total volume of sales for The Currency with those of four other popular NFT projects. Note that the y axis is unique to each project, due to the different range of prices. All sale prices have been converted to ETH, based on the exchange rate at the time of sale.

FIG. 12

Daily turnover and median price of popular NFT projects

- 2.14 Volumes were, on average, lower than in January. Bored Ape Yacht Club, CryptoPunks and Meebits saw a slight decrease in February. The Currency and Art Blocks had similar volumes to the previous month.
- 2.15 Figure 12 also shows the daily median price for each project. Please note that the y axes are different due to varying levels of median prices.
- 2.16 Prices in general were very variable this month.
- 2.17 The median price of Bored Ape Yacht Club NFTs went down this month. It started at around 25 ETH and ended the month at 22 ETH.
- 2.18 The median price for CryptoPunks started just below 60 ETH, but it reached 65 ETH on average towards the end of the month.
- 2.19 For Meebits, the price started just below 1.1 ETH and ended closer to 1.2 ETH.
- 2.20 The Currency had large fluctuations between 1 and 1.4 ETH.

4.2

It is interesting to compare the messages on the HENI Discord main chat channels to those on Discord servers/channels for some of the other big NFT projects. The graph below (Fig. 20) shows a smoother comparison of the number of messages per day for each main channel on the corresponding server.

4.3

All servers were quite stable throughout the month with the exception of a couple of peaks for Bored Ape Yacht Club.
